Hungary has a population of 9.6 million people and a GDP of €196bn in 2023. The country belongs to the group of high-income countries. It has been a NATO member since 1999 and became a member of the European Union in May 2004, but remains outside the Eurozone.

Hungary's GDP contracted in 2023 due to high inflation and interest rates and weaker external demand. A gradual recovery is expected as economic activity began to recover in 2024-Q1, with inflation at 3.7% mid 2024. In 2023, public debt was down to 73.5% of GDP from 80% in 2020, but it is expected to slightly rise to 74.3% in 2024. Nevertheless, GDP is expected to grow by 2.4% in 2024 and 3.5% in 2025.

Investment is being held back in 2024 by fiscal consolidation efforts and an overcapacity of commercial real estate, but it is projected to rebound in 2025, driven by rising capacity utilisation, large FDI-financed projects, and government support schemes for the purchase and renovation of dwellings.

Relations with the EU must continue to be monitored, since the government continues to carry a tough nationalist stance, an anti-immigration policy and a crackdown on civil society. However, Hungary's attractiveness for foreign direct investment has remained strong, based on cheap labour costs and economies of scale related to the size of its manufacturing sector.

Market overview

There has been a shift towards greater use of electronic payment instruments in Hungary, with a rapid growth in the use of both electronic credit transfers and payment cards, particularly debit cards. Ninety-two percent of all cards issued are contactless.

In March 2020, the MNB launched an instant payments service (AFR) to enable consumers to initiate payments with a value up to HUF 10 million (approximately EUR 28,000) using only the mobile phone number of the recipient. In 2020, 94 million transactions were processed with a value of HUF 14,414 billion.

There is no national electronic banking standard in Hungary; most banks offer MultiCash, as well as proprietary services. Spectra, a domestic e-banking system, is also available. Transaction and balance reporting, automated end-of-day sweeping, and some transaction initiation services are available on a domestic and cross-border basis.

Online and mobile banking services are provided by most Hungarian banks. An estimated 8.4 million accounts were accessed online in 2019. Online electronic invoice and bill presentment is increasing used by Hungarian companies.

The service enables payment service providers and ACHs with access to TARGET2 to offer fund transfers 24/7, 365 days a year. TIPS is aligned with SCT Insts.
